tent-trained nurses under the direction of an efficient surgeon.

Dr. G. S. Fraps, state chemist of Texas at the Texas Experiment Station at the Agricultural and Mechanical college, at College Station, Texas, says:

In my opinion land ought to have an application of manure every two or three years in order to keep it in good condition. If manure cannot be had, it would be well to plant some crop like pease and either turn it under or graze it off. It might be possible to grow such a crop during the summer when the land is idle. The land needs vegetable matter as well as plant food.

Construction work has commenced on the same track for the annual six-day bicycle race in Madison Square Garden, New York—the last to be held in the Garden, by the way—Dec. 9 to 16.

Dr. G. S. Fraps, state chemist of Texas, at the Texas Experiment Station says:

I would suggest that for onions a mixture of 800 pounds cottonseed meal, 200 pounds acid phosphate and 100 pounds sulphate of potash. This fertilizer would contain approximately 5 per cent nitrogen; 2.3 per cent acid phosphate; and a per cent potash. It is a good deal different from the ordinary onion fertilizer which contains less nitrogen and more phosphoric acid.

The buildings of the A. & M. college of Texas are situated on the crest of a wide divide, with a sufficient slope in every direction to insure proper drainage. The health of the student body, as shown by the daily record of the institution, is all that could be expected at any location in the state.

The water furnished is from a well 600 feet deep. This depth insures its purity and prevents contamination.

The barracks are inspected daily and are kept neat and clean throughout. The rooms are well-lighted and comfortable.

Drill, shop and field practice work and outdoor athletic sports furnish sufficient and varied exercise. Furthermore, they contribute very much to the maintenance of health and the proper physical development.

The health of the student body is the amount and the efficiency of the work done. There is no epidemic disease at the college; most of the sickness is the result of indiscretion on the part of the student, or is due to the introduction of some mild epidemic disease, such as measles or the mumps.

The hospital is a two-story frame structure. There are three large wards with bath, toilet rooms, etc., capable of accommodating about thirty-five patients, with several small rooms for the isolation of patients suffering from any common epidemic disease, such as mumps or measles. The sick in the hospital are carefully looked after by two competent Opinions expressed by the delegates already in the city indicate that President George Strohs of Des Moines and the other officers of the association will be re-elected at the annual business meeting. St. Louis, Sioux City and Kansas City will bid for next year's convention.

Lee asserts that he did not promise to take the woman as his wife, saying he told her in the presence of Miss Penrose that he would not give his word until he had consulted himself as to her character. He admitted "it was somewhat sudden." Miss Hopper told him, he said, she is well connected in Chicago and has many influential friends in that city, who through the northwest.

One of Lee's closest white friends says the Chinaman has been involved in several similar cases, and has been freed out of large sums of money by adventurers through alleged promises of marriage. He thinks that Lee's reputed wealth is the chief attraction and that this has made him a mark for all kinds of game. Lee says he will defend the action and that the woman will get nothing for her trouble and the accompanying uncertainty in the court case.

Teachers Meet at Evansville, Ind. Dec. 2.—More than 1,000 teachers attending the annual convention of the Southern Indiana Teachers' Association, which began a two-day session in the city today, with W. P. Davis of Oakland City, presiding. Among the well-known educators who are here to address the convention are President Robert L. Keiley of Earlham College; President Francis J. Mid-West Bowling Tournament.

DEA MOINES, Ia., Dec. 2.—Ten pin bowling from as far east as Cincinnati and from as far west as Denver, are trooping into Des Moines in anticipation of the opening tomorrow of the fifth annual tournament of the Middle West Bowling Association. The local preparations for the event are perfected to the smallest detail. The tournament will run nine days and unless all signs are misleading it will be by far the most successful ever pulled off by the association.
